RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Resolutions of respect by Foster Street Methodist Sabbath School upon the death of Norman Ussery.

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father in His Infinite wisdom saw fit on Dec. 14th, 1908, to call from life to heaven our dear friend and Sunday school scholar, Norman Ussery, therefore he it resolved

First, That we bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well, and we feel assured that our temporary loss is only heaven's eternal gain, and that every true and faithful Sunday school scholar shall meet him again in that great Sunday school above.

Second, That in the death of this meek, gentle-spirited patient and pious young man, this Sunday school has lost one of its best, truest and most faithful members and each of us a loyal and constant friend.

Third, That we deeply and sincerely sympathize with the family of the deceased and ask them to look by faith and love to those bright realms where the rainbow never fades and where the beautiful beings which here pass before them like visions shall remain with them forever.

Fourth, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, a copy be furnished the local papers for publication and a copy be handed the secretary of the Sunday school, to be placed upon the minutes of the Sunday school.

Respectfully submitted
Fred Martin,
Frank Wilkes,
Price Barnard,
Committee.

"MARK TWAIN," INCORPORATED.

The newest corporation seeking to become and remain a monopoly is the "Mark Twain Company of New York," incorporated and chartered. No, the thing isn't one of Mark's jokes, it is a commercial fact, designed and executed for money purposes, and nothing built on those lines is ever a joke. There is a paucity of wit or humor in money making, although wit and humor may be the commodities dealt in by the money-makers.

The head and front of the new trust is Mr. Samuel L. Clemens, the author who owns the controlling interest. For years and years he has been fighting for a perpetual copyright that will give unlimited ownership of a book to the person who produces it. If a man builds a house or clears a farm he may maintain his rights in it forever, but if a man writes a book he may maintain his rights in it only for a certain number of years, when the copyright expires and it becomes practically the property of any publisher. It is the idea of Mr. Clemens that a man should be protected in the ownership of that which he creates with his brains quite as much as in that which he produces with his hands. For this reason he has incorporated his pen name, with the purpose in mind of keeping the profits from the "Mark Twain" books in the Clemens family.

The movement is in the nature of an experiment. No other author in this country has made a trust of himself by way of bridging the chasm created by the copyright laws. Authors and inventors in this country are permitted to benefit by their genius only for a limited time. Copyrights and patents run for a certain number of years and then become void in so far as protection is concerned. It is by incorporation Mr. Clemens shall have opened the way for practically perpetual ownership, he will have conferred a boon upon a considerable number of men of brains, but meanwhile the consuming public will be the sufferers.—Savannah News.

NO BAIL FOR THE COOPERS

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 28.—Gentlemen—I desire to say that I have given this case careful consideration from every standpoint and having done so, I am of the opinion that it is not a bailable case, therefore decline to allow bail to any of the defendants and deny the application. This is all before the court this morning.

The above in full is the decision of Judge J. W. M. Hart in the criminal court this morning in the matter of application for bail for Colonel Duncan B. Cooper, Robin J. Cooper and John D. Sharp, charged with the murder of Senator E. W. Carmack in this city on November 3rd last.

Judge Hart took the application under advisement on last Thursday, following several days of evidence adduced from state's witnesses who had been summoned to show why the defendant should not have bail.

As usual the criminal court room was crowded with interested spectators who began to arrive some time before the hour for court to convene. No sooner had the decision been rendered than the big audience quickly dispersed and its members walked off in little groups evidently discussing the decision.

When Judge Hart had finished, the trial opinion all eyes turned from the bench in the direction of the defendants and their counsel. The three defendants if they were stunned or shocked by the decision failed to manifest such fact outwardly. They were immediately surrounded by friends who grasped their hands and said comforting words to them. The defendants greeted these friends with smiles and appeared not the least cast down. With their counsel the situation appeared different. Most of the counsel for the defense seemed stunned at first by the ruling of the court and each sat stock still for a moment following the rendition of the opinion. The prisoners were then conducted back to jail to await their trial on January 20.

A. M. Owens, who has been visiting his brother here, Mr. J. C. Owens, has returned to his home at Montgomery.

TRAGEDY AT CAPITAL; SWEARENGEN KILLED.

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 28.—J. T. Swearingen, former police man, was shot to death this morning by Eli Parker. The trouble followed a personal difficulty on Christmas. Parker met Swearingen in the road and shot him twice with a shot gun. Parker is in jail.

VIOLENT EARTHQUAKE SHOOK.

Rome, Dec. 28.—Violent earthquake shocks were felt in Calabria at 9:30 o'clock this morning. Serious damage is said to have resulted and some destructions are reported at Milito, Gionadi and Stefancioni. At Stefancioni the shock was more severe, but San Gregorio, San Giorgio and Majera also suffered.

London, Dec. 28.—A dispatch received here from Catania, Cretia, says the Swedish steamer Asta, the Austrian steamer Budapest and the Italian steamer Orseolo, were damaged today by an earthquake and the consequent tidal disturbance at that port. The extent of the injuries to the vessels is not given.

WHEN THE WOOD IS GONE

Do you begin to see the picture? Can you imagine what it will be in thirty years? The lumber business, now the fourth largest in America, will be the first to fail. Thirty-three thousand establishments will immediately close their doors. At the same moment more than half a million employees will be thrown out of work, they will be joined by a million in the allied trades, coopers, joiners, carpenters, planners, wallpaper makers; then another million from the trades directly affected. It will be such an army of unemployed as was never dreamed of in the world's history.

The mines will fail. There will be no coal, no iron, no steel for the sky scrapers, no steel for rails. The railroads will go out of business. Without transportation facilities the farmers will be unable to market their crops, already diminished by uncontrolled drought and flood. As our national prosperity depends upon the railroads and the crops, there will be no prosperity. In its place poverty, the poverty of China, Greece, Armenia, Dalmatia.

That of something very like it is the picture of the great land of ours when the forest is lost. And it will be more than a mere picture. Unless you decide to get it will become a grim reality.

Gems Swept Seven Miles in Sewer Are Found

Boston, Dec. 27.—When Mrs. Louis Gottlieb, a widow of Dorchester, was bathing several days ago, two diamond rings valued at $5,000 slipped off her finger and down the outlet.

Mrs. Gottlieb noticed the disappearance of sewers and a squad of inspectors was sent to the house. They traced the jewels from one catch basin to another to find that the gems had gone ahead of them.

Finally, after twelve hours search, the jewels were found in the last catch basin of the system just off the ocean pumping station and seven miles from the Gottlieb home.

Why It Was.

A party of Northerners was touring Virginia, some years ago, and as the crowded train was crawling through Stafford county, near Fredericksburg, an old and wizened woman, with a basket bigger than herself, came aboard and edged diffidently into the vacant place beside one of the men, says Harper's Weekly. After a while her seatmate decided that it could be no harm to draw her out a little for the benefit of the rest of the party.

"This is very poor land that you have around here, mutim," he began.

"Mighty poor," she assented humbly.

"I never did see such worthless soil."

"No sur," with an air of deep dejection.

"Don't you ever sow any crops at all?" he kept on.

The ancient dame did not lift her head.

"Saw, sah," she drawled. "This hyer land around hyer was sowed 'bout three feet deep with Yankers, 'bout forty years ago, and me an't been able to raise a crop since."

"Excuse me, ma'am," said the book canvasser to the lady who had opened the door in answer to his ring, "but if you have a few moments a spare I'd like to show you this great work on the 'Habits of Savage Animals.'"

"No use wasting your time, young man," responded the female, "I've been married three times and know all about their habits."—Chicago News.

"See here," feebly, complained the victim after the accident, "I thought you said it was perfectly safe to go up in that old elevator?"

"Well," replied the elevator man, "so it was safe to go up; you see, the dangerous part of it was comin' down."

LYCEUM LAST NIGHT.

The entertainment given by the celebrated magician, Prof. Edwin Brush, at the Elite Theatre last evening, was from every point of view a grand success. Every seat was filled and extra chairs were used to accommodate the immense audience.

Prof. Brush's reputation as a magician, illusionist, humorist, ventriloquist, was magnificently sustained by the program presented. Every body went home delighted, and will miss no opportunity in the future of seeing Prof. Brush again.

The Lyceum continues to grow in favor, and Dothan appreciates the fact that no city in Alabama has a finer course than ours for the present season. Three of the entertainments have been given and we have four more to anticipate.

The various Ward Committees reported to this Committee a sum total of 23 families, and for them the report above set out covers necessities, with proper token of remembrance in the way of "Santa Claus" for the little ones.

We have used the best possible judgment and discretion in the expenditure of this fund, as we found necessity demanded, and in some of the places cited, we found extremely great need of this work on account of long illness, and in this connection we most urgently ask that this Union Prayer Meeting as a body, keep in touch with the various ones, and if further assistance is needed, we should look forward to that and promptly.

We want to express our gratitude and appreciation to those subscribers to our fund, and assure them that it has gone to a worthy cause, and has been the means of making so many happy souls—especially is this true of the little ones who earnestly look forward for Santa Claus, and had it not been through the kind merciful providence of God, they would have not known in reality of the happy Xmas time. You will recall that this subscription was not as large as previous one, yet, we find that the B. P. O. E. rose in opposition to us in this glorious work, and we find that they carried the glad tidings to eighteen families or more, and we want to ask, as co-laborers, the thankful appreciation for their good work.

This Committee begs that we exercise great earnestness in behalf of those in need and distress and feel that we should as a body give much thought in the direction of helping those out of employment to secure work, and in a great many instances, relieve them. We would also bring to your attention the importance of seeing our brethren from time to time and asking their earnest cooperation in this blessed work.

In conclusion, as your Committee we desire to express our heartfelt appreciation for the pleasure in having served, and we assure you this has been the happiest year of our lives, in having been a part to uplifting and furtherance of our Master's cause, and we ask the blessings of each of you, that we may be spared to continue this blessed work.

Dothan, Ala. Dec. 27, 1908.

On motion of A. Y. Malone, the report as read above was received and adopted, and ordered published in the Dothan Eagle.

There was a motion made and carried also, that a report of the amounts of collections and disbursements of the Prayer Meeting for the past year be included in the published report.

On motion, the Committee which served during this term was continued for the year, with the secretary of the Prayer Meeting as secretary, to look out for and report any cases of sickness or distress, and to raise the funds to relieve the same from time to time.

We would urge the brethren of all the churches to help us in this work and to attend the Prayer Meeting every Sunday when possible.

Sicily the Center of the Disturbance.

Rome, Dec. 28.—Southern Italy was visited by a serious and fatal earthquake this morning. The center of the disturbance was in Sicily and the greatest loss of life and property occurred in this island. The reports are as yet incomplete, but the people everywhere were thrown into a condition of panic. At Caltanissetta, a Sicilian town of 30,000 people, a number of houses were shaken down and the inhabitants fled for safety to the streets. Vast crowds gathered in the parks and the churches are filled. At Mineo, a small town 199 miles southwest of Catania, several houses collapsed and scenes of panic were reported.

At Catania the docks and shore front were overwhelmed by a tidal wave that rolled from the sea. Much damage was done to the shipping. Details are lacking but it is known several steamers were damaged. At Catania the shock lasted for twenty seconds.

PROGRESS OF PROHIBITION.

It must be a matter of some surprise to the prohibitionists of the country, the marvelous progress they have made towards getting laws passed in the South especially favorable to their cause.

Three more Southern states will try prohibition after January 1st, Alabama, North Carolina and Mississippi, go in to the column of "dry" states, where liquor will not be licensed to be sold.

The friends of temperance in Tennessee are confident that they will be able to have a state prohibition measure passed by the next legislature. Only a few towns in that state now sell whiskey. Kentucky, which is the second largest distilling state in the Union, has only four counties out of 119 where whiskey can be sold.

Virginia, too, is well on the way to join the prohibition column, for she now has 50 of her 100 counties dry, and the work of the temperance people is telling all the time, and they expect within a short time, to drive the stuff from her borders, as far as legislation enactment will do it.

Texas has half her territory where liquor cannot be bought and a constitutional amendment will be voted upon this year to establish state prohibition.

Arkansas has 75 dry counties which is over two-thirds the number in the state, with the Anti-Saloon League well organized and working day and night for total prohibition for the state.

Florida, our near neighbor, is a dry state, practically except in the larger towns, and it is only a question of a short time before the sentiment there will drive the liquor traffic from her borders.

Taken all together the prospect must be highly gratifying to the enemies of the liquor business.

The results of prohibition generally are gleaned from the record of arrests for drunkenness, an increase in the bank deposits of laborers, fewer cases of wife abandonment, and a decrease in criminality generally. The difficulty in enforcing the prohibition laws, however, is conceded to be one of the chief obstacles to its absolute success in many states, and this phase of the question, together with a falling off in revenues, is to some extent baffling to the authorities.

Edwin Bunker returned last night from Lloyd, Fla., where he had been for a few days. He will leave tomorrow for Pittsburg.

B. J. Kirkland, of Mart, Tex., arrived in the city a few days ago visiting old friends. He was once a resident of Dothan, and built many of the houses here, but has been living in Texas for a dozen years.

MARRIED CHRISTMAS EVE.

Mr. Robert L. Rodgers, of Columbus, Ga., and Miss Jewell Hughes of this city, were married last Thursday night, at the residence of the bride in Dothan. Rev. W. P. Hart performed the marriage ceremony.

Mr. Rodgers, we learn, is a railroad man, and lives in Columbus, whether the bridal couple went on the first train, and where they will make their future home.

Miss Hughes is well known in this city, having lived here most of her life, and leaves many friends here, to congratulate and wish for her much happiness in her wedded life.

TO BE MARRIED TONIGHT.

According to previous arrangement, Mr. B. H. Meadows, of Scotch, and Miss Gaynell Logue, of this city, will be married tonight.

We learn this will be a quiet home wedding.

STOLE A COW AND A CALF.

On Sunday night, some fellow, or fellows, took a liking to Mr. J. R. Box's cow and calf, and pulled down all barriers and drove them away. The cow was a fine one, a Jersey, and Mr. Box is bothered about it. He tracked the cow and calf some distance towards Headland. He says they couldn't have made the escape themselves. One was in one stall and the other in another part of the barn.
